Ohio Stoneware first opened in 2005 in Zanesville, Ohio. It is one of America's last remaining commercial pottery manufacturers, operating in what used to be the Pottery Capital of the World.

Our humble beginnings included a product line that contained only ten items, while our current product line contains thousands.

We are a family owned business and pride ourselves on manufacturing quality, American made stoneware. Our pieces are fired at approximately 2,200 degrees, and are processed through a kiln cycle (which, heats and cools) for roughly 18 hours. Our glazes are second to none, and will withstand the rigors of daily use for generations.

5 YEAR LIMITED GUARANTEE

Ohio Stoneware offers a limited warranty for products purchased directly from Ohio Stoneware or its authorized retailers. Our products are warranted to be free from manufacturing defects. Unfortunately, we cannot guarantee the quality of products handled by distributors outside of our carefully selected network of partners, so our warranty only applies to purchases made directly through Ohio Stoneware or an authorized retailer. We guarantee our product five years from the date of purchase against all defects in materials and workmanship, provided the product has been used as instructed. It does not cover normal wear and tear, commercial use, or misuse of the product. To claim under the guarantee please email pictures of the product to info@ohiostoneware.com with proof of purchase or date of purchase and retailer purchased from. After review, Ohio Stoneware may request to have the item sent in for a physical review and at its discretion will determine if the product is eligible for replacement. Replacement products will be sent free of charge with prepaid postage. Ohio Stoneware, in its discretion, shall either repair or replace the product free of charge and return the product prepaid. This warranty gives you specific legal rights, and you may also have other rights, which vary state to state. Bristol Preserving Crocks

Our multi-functional preserving crocks serve many uses. Traditionally, they are used for preserving vegetables, such as cucumbers for pickling or cabbage for sauerkraut. They can also be used for everyday purposes, such as pantry storage and kitchen containers.

Crocks filled with food for fermentation purposes should be kept in cool, dry environments. This allows the fruits and vegetables to ferment naturally.

Our house made lead-free clay and glazes make our crocks safe and easy to clean. They are oven, microwave, and dishwasher-safe.

Water Seal Crock Kits

Fermentation is one of the oldest, easiest, and healthiest ways to preserve and ferment food. Natural, lactic acid fermentation allows vegetables to retain more vitamins and minerals than most other methods.

These crocks are designed for making bountiful batches of sauerkraut, pickles, and preserving other foods. The two semi-circular stone weights rest on top of the food inside the crock and create pressure needed for proper fermentation. The lead-free, food-safe glaze will not retain the food's flavors, and makes clean up easy.

"These bowls are great for me to use. They are heavy enough to keep from sliding around and easy to clean. The steeper sides help me to slow down and enjoy my meals. And the largest one, used for water, does not get slimy like a metal bowl does."
